BOOK SALE

Our Grade 6A class is organizing a book sale! Books will be sold for $1 each and proceeds will be split between Grade 6 Camp and two organizations selected by the students. This year our students have chosen to support the Humane Society and the Stollery Children's Hospital.

The book sale will run from April 2-4!

STEM Assembly

- At our STEM Assembly we learned about water conservation and ways to protect our water and wildlife. Students used the design process to create something that could remove oil from water. We were so impressed with our students' critical thinking skills, creativity and collaboration!

Multicultural Day

Yesterday, we came together with great excitement to honor and celebrate the rich tapestry of cultures that make up our school family. Through poetry, music, drumming, dance, a flag parade and cultural fashion show we celebrated the beauty of diversity. We believe that events like this are an important part of helping our students to become compassionate global citizens.

Anything But a Backpack Day

On Friday, students are encouraged to bring their lunch and other belongings to school in something other than a backpack. Be creative! We can't wait to see what you come up with!

The Home, School, and Parish

Dear Families,

During this Easter season, we are reminded of how Jesus fed the hungry, gave drink to the thirsty, welcomed the stranger, clothed the naked, and healed the sick. Jesus lived and ministered alongside His disciples, welcoming, teaching, learning, healing, reconciling, serving, celebrating, and praying with each other and the larger community. Their relationship served as a marvellous example of collaboration and love.

As we approach Catholic Education Week in May, we recall their special relationship and consider for ourselves how this connection might translate today, particularly among the home, school and parish in the formation and education of our children.

The home is where values and beliefs begin. It is within the family that children learn about love, respect, and responsibility. As parents, you are the first and primary teachers in your children's lives. Your guidance, support, and example help shape their moral character and lay the foundation for their future.

At the same time, the school plays a crucial role in complementing the values taught at home and providing students with a holistic Catholic education. Teachers, administrators, and staff members not only impart knowledge through religious education programs and the permeation of faith in all subject areas, but also instill in students a sense of curiosity, critical thinking, and compassion.

Additionally, the parish community serves as a spiritual anchor, providing opportunities for worship, service, and fellowship. It is within the parish that children deepen their faith and develop a sense of belonging to the larger family of God. Through sacramental preparation and youth programs, the parish nurtures the spiritual growth of our children and strengthens their connection to their Catholic identity.

OFFICE OF THE ARCHBISHOP

When the home, school, and parish work together in harmony, the impact on our children's lives is profound. As Archbishop, I invite you to embrace this partnership wholeheartedly, recognizing the unique role each plays in the formation of our children.

May God bless our efforts as we strive to build a strong and vibrant community of faith, knowledge and love.

Yours sincerely in Christ,
